Dear Hiring Manager,

I am a Front-End Development student at Noroff with a previous background in nursing, and I am writing to express my interest in opportunities within front-end development. I am highly motivated to transition into the tech industry and apply my skills in creating user-friendly, accessible and intuitive digital solutions.

Throughout my studies, I have gained solid knowledge in HTML, CSS and JavaScript, and experience working with tools such as Git, GitHub, VS Code and Figma. I have completed several projects, including responsive websites, interactive JavaScript applications and a full e-commerce frontend integrated with a live API. Through these projects, I have learned how to structure clean code, create responsive layouts, use version control effectively and collaborate in agile team environments.

In addition to my technical skills, my background as a nurse—especially from the emergency clinic—has given me strong abilities in communication, collaboration and working under pressure. I bring a people-centered mindset into my work, something I believe is essential for building meaningful and user-focused digital experiences.

Although I am open to various opportunities, I am particularly interested in roles where I can continue to learn and grow within a modern tech environment. I am excited about the possibility of contributing to a development team while expanding my skills and taking on new challenges.

Thank you for considering my application. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my background and skills can be of value. I am available for a conversation or interview at your convenience.

Kind regards,

Emilie Sofie Fosmo
